1. INTRODUCTION

This privacy statement describes the measures that are taken to safeguard your personal privacy when using this website. At the bottom of this statement a date is mentioned ; you are therefore kindly requested to regularly check this statement in order to remain informed of the most recent measures taken by Graydon Belgium.

This privacy statement is applicable to all services Graydon Belgium offers its clients and visitors to this website.

2. YOUR VISIT TO OUR WEBSITE

2.1. General information

The major part of the information available on the Graydon website does not contain any personal data.

When visiting our website, the following data are stored:

- your IP-address
- all data regarding the web pages you consulted
- all data voluntarily supplied by you (e.g. fax number, phone number, research information, and/or site registration)

This information is used when needed:

- to answer your questions
- to keep you informed of our services

In case any personal information should be required, the data will be processed according to the stipulations of the law on processing of personal data.

This implies that personal data are only collected and processed with the sole purpose to provide information. Graydon Belgium engages itself to take the best security measures possible to prevent abuse by third parties of personal data disclosed by the visitors of our website.

Our website also contains links to other websites which are beyond Graydon Belgium's control. Therefore Graydon Belgium cannot offer any guarantee as regards the privacy policy of those websites and will not accept any liability in this respect. We therefore advise you to inform yourself about of the privacy policy applied by those sites.

2.2. The various levels of security

We have taken the necessary safety measures to prevent loss, unlawful use or modification of information received on our website.

Graydon Belgium uses various levels of security that depend on the different services offered. The level determines whether or not a registration is required; in the latter case, the strictness of the level depends on the level of security concerned.

Services offered on the lowest level do not require a registration. These services only allow the collection of a limited amount of data resulting from the use of cookies and logging. Cookies allow us to analyse the usage of our website and to locate and correct possible bottlenecks.

Some services are offered on a higher security level. This implies that the user of these services will be requested to register himself by disclosing certain data to Graydon Belgium. As regards these data, Graydon Belgium will take the necessary measures to guarantee the protection of your private life.

3. LEGAL STIPULATIONS SUCH AS FINALITY, PROPORTIONALITY AND THE RIGHT OF ACCESS AND CORRECTION

The finality of the data processing consists in supplying information about enterprises to clients having concluded an agreement with Graydon Belgium.

In the framework of proportionality, Graydon Belgium ensures that the data collected are sufficient, relevant and not excessive and this taking into account the finality of the processing as mentioned above.

Considering the accuracy principle, Graydon Belgium always aims to sketch an objective image of the Belgian enterprises within the Belgian market economy.

In this respect we would like to point out that neither the social security number nor the identity card number are relevant to the purpose of processing Graydon Belgium's data; consequently, these items are not stored in our database.

Natural persons being able to prove their identity in accordance with the prevailing legislation (i.e. by sending us a request by registered letter including a copy of their identity card and informing us of their business number, since our database is composed of business numbers) have the right of access and of correction insofar the correction is in accordance with the official publication regarding the person concerned.
